PSC Hearing Told in Reply Public Welfare Is Involved

Milton Babich (above), 19, is being sought by police investigating the slaying of Patricia Birmingham, 16, in Milwaukee. Victim's sister, Kathleen, disappeared March 18 leaving a note saying she was eloping with Babich. Police hope the couple can give information about Patricia's movements on the day she vanished. Patricia's body was found in the river March 20. She was last seen February 10.

P.S.C. Authorizes Central Hudson's Issuance of Stock

New York, March 23 (AP)—Authorization has been given the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation by the Public Service Commission to invite public bids on 20,000 shares of preferred stock of a total par value of $2,000,000, the commission announced yesterday.

Prior to adjourning Mr. Stevens said he intended to offer "general exhibits" showing the "revolution in transportation" due to the internal combustion engine.

MARY H. DONLON

A talk which is termed of prime importance to all residents of Kingston and surrounding areas interested in labor problems will be given Thursday night.

Miss Mary H. Donlon of Albany, chairman of the New York State Workers' Compensation Board, will address meeting to be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 8:30 o'clock under the sponsorship of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club.

Mrs. Vincent G. Connolly, of this city, president of the organization, said Miss Donlon will use as her topic, "Labor Problems." Mrs. Connolly stressed the importance of the talk to both representatives of management and labor.

Mayor to Speak

Another speaker on the program, Mrs. Connolly said, will be Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, who will speak on "City Government." Mrs. Connolly said the meeting is scheduled at 8:30 o'clock in order not to interfere with those persons who might wish to attend Lenten services first.

Miss Donlon, who is an attorney and a member of the board of trustees of Cornell University, is a nationally-recognized authority on labor relations and has worked in close conjunction with Frances Perkins, former U. S. Secretary of Labor, and the present secretary, Maurice Tobin.

Luncheon is Attended

Mrs. Connolly said 30 women from Ulster county attended the annual legislative luncheon held Monday at the Hotel Ten Eyck, Albany, at which more than 200 Republican women were present.

Speakers included Lt. Governor Joe Hanley, Oswald Heck, Assembly leader; Senator Benjamin Feinberg, Assemblyman Mailler, Senator Mitchell and Miss Donlon. Miss Jane Todd, acting State Republican chairman, presided.

Monday night the women attended the Senate session of the legislature.

State Unit Says Parley Is Red Move

'World Peace' Assembly In New York Russian Maneuver; Gives Its Exclusion Reasons

Dewey Won't Act

Governor Says Meeting Is, He Believes, Red Front

Washington, March 23 (AP)—The "world peace" conference opening Friday in New York is viewed by the State Department as one of a series of moves by Moscow to oppose the new North Atlantic Security pact and further other Soviet aims.

Officials said today this was why the American government is barring 11 delegates from Europe and South America.

However, 21 from Soviet Russia and eastern Europe are permitted entry, and the State Department explained this apparent contradiction this way:

The 21 are official representatives of their governments, and are entitled to official visas. They are not excludable under immigration laws. The others, however, are not attending the conference as foreign government officials, and are excludable.

The unofficial representatives are scientists, authors and other intellectuals.

The State Department emphasized it is remaining firm in its stand despite an appeal to Secretary Acheson from Dr. Harlow Shapley, Harvard astronomer.

Shapley is chairman of the National Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions which is sponsoring the three-day meeting of the Cultural and Scientific Conference for World Peace.

When the conference came in for earlier criticism, Shapley said in a statement:

"The conference is independent of any political group or any conference that has been held in the past. It is an American conference to which have been invited a number of distinguished speakers from more than 20 countries. The conference will be conducted in the democratic tradition. Discussion at panel sessions will be open to all."

Dewey Gives View

In New York, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said in a statement he believed that the scheduled meeting was "a Communist front affair" but that he would make no move to prevent it.

The session was adjourned until today, when the hearing was resumed with railroad men being called to offer additional facts on behalf of the railroad.

Prior to adjourning Mr. Stevens said he intended to offer "general exhibits" showing the "revolution in transportation" due to the internal combustion engine.

Father Lynch, Okinawa Hero Will Be Buried at Esopus

The body of the Rev. Lawrence E. Lynch, C.S.C., will be buried Saturday with full military honors at the Redemptorist Seminary cemetery at Esopus. Father Lynch's body was brought back recently from Okinawa, where he died a hero's death on April 24, 1945. A solemn requiem Mass, with the body present, will be chanted at the Redemptorist Church of Our Lady of Perpetual Help in Brooklyn. After the obsequies the funeral cortège will drive to Esopus, where the body will be reinterred at Mt. St. Alphonsus.

Senate Votes Local Control Whenever States Approve

Asphalt Plant Is Constructed at Connelly

A virtual "hot-off-the-grind" service will be supplied road contractors who operate in the immediate area by the newly built asphalt plant of the Callanan Road Improvement Co., at Connelly. The unit, which increases the facilities of the sprawling plant across the Rondout creek from Kingston, is expected to be in operation by the middle of next month, according to Harry E. Battin, Jr., vice president of the company. (Free man Photo)

Senate Approves Boyd and Lewis' Aides Say Action Is Slap in Face to Mine Union Boss; Question: Will Holiday End Monday?

Pittsburgh, March 23 (AP)—The nation's coal operators were on the hot seat today, wondering what John L. Lewis would do now.

Would the fiery head of the United Mine Workers allow his 463,000 idle diggers to resume work as scheduled next Monday? Or would he permit their two-week stoppage to go indefinitely?

The Senate put the answer right up to Lewis last night by confirming Dr. James Boyd as director of the Federal Bureau of Mines in an overwhelming 50-11 vote.

When Lewis ordered all miners east of the Mississippi to shut down for the March 14-28 period

he said it was a memorial to miners killed and injured last year.

But he didn't mince words

when he declared it would serve, too, as the miners' protest against

President Truman's appointment of Dr. Boyd as the man to direct federal mine safety regulations.

Lewis contended that Dr. Boyd, who has been serving without pay since December, 1947, lacked practical experience in dealing with mine safety.

The Senate took up the challenge almost immediately. Its Interior Committee approved Dr. Boyd 10-1. Then the matter went to the Senate as a whole. Some persons thought that body might not wish to antagonize Lewis

during the course of the walkout

—that it would postpone action until coal was coming out of the mines again.

But such wasn't the case. The matter came up last night and Battin was assured of his $10,000-a-year job.

Battin said he was gratified.

Lewis didn't say anything.

And coal operators refused to comment.

Lieutenants Blast Away

But there was plainly no comment from Lewis' top lieutenants in the field. They called the Senate's action "dastardly," a "mockery," and "a slap in the face to

John L. Lewis!"

Detroit Minister To Speak Thursday At Lenten Service

at the Boston University School of Theology; and his graduate work at Harvard.

The degree of doctor of divinity was conferred upon him by DePauw University and likewise by his own Alma Mater, Florida University, conferred upon him the degree of doctor of laws.

During his ministry, Dr. Crane has served three of the leading churches of Methodism: Centre Methodist Church, Malden, Mass., Elm Park Methodist Church, Scranton, Pa., and since June, 1938, he has been minister of Central Methodist Church in Detroit.

Amsterdam Delegate

During the past year, Dr. Crane spent five months in Europe traveling mostly by automobile which enabled him to contact people in all walks of life and to see intimately conditions not commonly witnessed by tourists. As a delegate to the World Council of Churches at Amsterdam, he met many of the great religious leaders of the world.

In Germany, Dr. Crane visited all the major cities in the American zone and was in Berlin during the great anti-Communist demonstration.

The Detroit pastor also embarked on a 3,500 mile motor trip through Spain and Portugal where he visited all the major cities as well as the poverty-stricken villages. A subsequent journey through Switzerland enabled Dr. Crane to see the advantages of an authentic democracy over Franco's dictatorship in Spain.

Prior to his return to this country, Dr. Crane was a member of the passenger list of the Queen Elizabeth when it was detained at Southampton for two weeks due to a fog and a strike.

He is a member of the following fraternal organizations and clubs: Delta Tau Delta, Omicron Delta Kappa, Delta Sigma Rho Literary Society, Masonic Knights Templar, the Consistory and Shrine, Kiwanis, Rotary International, honorary; and the Detroit Athletic Club.

The public is cordially invited to hear Dr. Crane during Thursday's service.

DISCOURAGING FIRST NAME CALLING

I thoroughly agree with the writer of the following letter: "I don't like having people call me by my first name. I know I'm old-fashioned, but I reserve this privilege for my best friends. Anyway I'm past middle age and don't think it's becoming for everyone to use a first name for me. But how can I stop them?"

The best suggestion I can give is to say frankly that you know you are old-fashioned, but you prefer to be called Miss or Mrs. whatever-your-name.

"Mother Is Mrs. Jones"

Dear Mrs. Post: I always knew how to introduce my mother when her last name was the same as mine. Now she is married again and I cannot say, "Mother," this is my friend, Helen Smith. If I did the friend might not know and call her Mrs. My Name. How should I do it now?

Answer: You introduce her exactly the same way you always have and merely add, "Mother's name is Mrs. Jones."

Conversation Problem

Dear Mrs. Post: I've been told that when three people are having a conversation it is very impolite for two of them to discuss someone, or something the third one is not familiar with. Is this true? Wouldn't it rather limit conversation?

Answer: A few comments would be entirely permissible. But for two people to discuss something for any length of time barring the third person, would certainly be very impolite, without at least an attempt to give some clue to the listener.

Holding Fork

Dear Mrs. Post: Please describe how the fork should be held in the left hand while cutting meat. Also, how far up on the knife should the index finger come when cutting?

Answer: Both knife and fork are held exactly alike—in the fist of your hand with your index finger pointing down the shank and the thumb underneath, never with palms up the way you would hold a spoon.

How are your manners in public? Mrs. Post has prepared a leaflet, E-15, giving general advice for behavior in public. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

NATIONAL GUARD DEFENDS AMERICA

The recruiting drive of the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, National Guard, which is now underway, is for the express purpose of bringing the local battalion up to full strength. The importance of a strong National Guard may be judged by its long service record.

"A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

This provision of the Bill of Rights, the second amendment to the Constitution in 1791, shows the intention of the founders of the United States to provide a force capable of coping with domestic disasters, capable also of meeting an armed enemy on short notice.

Their words, and their intentions, have been carried. Today that force is in being as the National Guard.

Although its name has changed down through the years, the Guard today is essentially the same as it was in the days of Lexington and Concord—a relatively small but highly efficient force of civilian soldiers, organized, equipped and trained in their own home towns.

As modern as its jet fighters and self-propelled weapons, the Guard dots cities and towns throughout the 48 states, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and the District of Columbia.

The record shows its dual mission of service in both peace and war has been well performed. Operating under the State Governors in peacetime, Guardsmen have fought floods, put out fires and brought quick relief to disaster victims.

The service of the National Guard in every one of America's wars has been the backbone of our military effort. The eleven Guard divisions in World War I distinguished themselves in every major offensive. The Guard furnished 330,304 men in eighteen divisions and a number of other combat units to the nation's service in World War II. The might of their manpower was demonstrated in all major theatres of war.

Reorganized in 1946, the new National Guard is steadily moving closer to its ultimate strength of 684,000 men. Expanding units receive newly-designed equipment and weekly training periods and 15-day summer camps keep the individuals abreast of the latest techniques in the use of this equipment.

Even though it is approaching its strength ceiling, the Guard needs good men to fill special vacancies and replace losses. It also needs men to be able to expand quickly to its next year's ceiling, as soon as that expansion is authorized.

The National Guard will help make America strong. A strong America will discourage attack by any enemy.

The National Guard defends America.

SAFETY IN THE STREETS

The United States has more motor vehicles than any other nation on earth, but it has not solved the problem of traffic safety. Deaths in January were eight per cent higher than in January, 1948, according to the National Safety Council. In the North Atlantic states, which enjoyed an unusually mild winter season, deaths were 48 per cent over the record of the previous year. In cities of half a million inhabitants and above, the death rate rose 31 per cent in a year.

Oklahoma City, with 24,000 population in the 1940 census, had no traffic deaths at all in January, the largest city in the United States to boast such a record. This is one record which probably even Oklahoma City would be pleased to have surpassed.

The taxpayer might as well get used to it. His taxes are still going higher, and it isn't all Uncle Sam's fault either. Local governments are responsible for a good deal of the increase. At least 30 governors, says the Council of State Governments, have asked their legislatures for more money than last year, partly because they want the states to take on new duties, partly because those already assumed are costing more money.

One of the notable features of this era is that we now can destroy things more effectively than ever before.

One of the surest ways to get into print, if that's what you want, is to do things that make people mad.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE AUTOMATIC WAR

The North Atlantic Pact, like all other treaties, is only as strong and effective as the nations which accept it. This is a military offensive-defensive alliance designed to produce unity in war and in the preparation for war. It rests on the broad base of American aid to western Europe—monetary and military aid.

Western Europe is a small, densely populated area of about 270,000,000 people, and includes what in our civilization have come to be known as the principal countries on earth. They have produced the culture of our times and a standard of living higher than all other peoples except the United States, which is composed principally of Europeans who migrated directly from Europe to America.

Although we speak of a European civilization, 2,000 years of history have broken Europe into a large number of small countries, economically dependent upon each other. From the time of Charlemagne to the present day, two conflicting movements have been apparent in Europe, namely, a movement to build a universal western European state and a movement for the breaking up of western Europe into small nationalistic units. The Holy Roman empire, Napoleon and Hitler represent three phases of one side of the paradox; the wars and revolutions since 1915 represent the nationalistic effort. The League of Nations and the United Nations mark the most current attempt to merge these conflicting ideas into a workable unity. The North Atlantic Pact is another.

For purposes of unity no western European nation may remain out of the North Atlantic Pact, if it is to succeed at all. That means that Spain, Eire, Sweden must be in it. In fact, the pact would be strengthened if the countries that seceded from the Austro-Hungarian empire were in it.

Perhaps the problem might be stated this way: The current struggle in Europe is between Christianity and Marxism. The power of Marxism is symbolized by Soviet Russia, a Universal state of 500,000,000 or 600,000,000 people, ranging from the Elbe in Europe to the Pacific on the edge of Asia, most of whom have been conquered and are, in effect, enslaved. The power of Christianity is symbolized by the free countries of western Europe, North and South America, and the English-speaking British dominions.

Marxian countries reject western civilization in its economic, political, social and theological manifestations. The impact of such a departure from 5,000 years of human development on so vast a scale is disturbing human relationships beyond anything that has ever before been experienced in human history. It is possible that the conflict of ideas and aims can only be resolved by war. The North Atlantic Pact is designed to meet that situation.

The theoretical essence of the pact appears in this sentence:

"They are determined to safeguard the freedom, common heritage and civilization of their peoples, founded on the principles of democracy, individual liberty, and the rule of law."

This clearly is anti-Marxian and leaves no loopholes. Communist Russia cannot "safeguard freedom" because it rejects freedom. It cannot associate itself with democracy or individual liberty because both are abhorrent to Marxians.

Article Five contains the effective heart of the pact:

"The parties agree that an armed attack against one or more of them in Europe or North America shall be considered an attack against them all..."

This article conflicts with the Constitution of the United States. The Constitution grants to Congress the power to declare war. When the Senate shall have ratified this pact, war becomes automatic. Should, for instance, a Communist country attempt to seize Algeria, a French colony, the United States would automatically be at war, no matter what the circumstances.

When Attorney General Clark heard the statement of the Ferguson statement, he was, to say the least, nonplussed, and sent word to the senator that he would give him 15 minutes to take back his statement.

Ferguson was quick to reply. He sat down and wrote Clark a humble longhand note taking back what he had said. The senator's excuse was that he had been misquoted. He had never said he gave information about Judith Coplon to Clark, nor did he state that he had demanded a probe of the matter. Clark had sat on his hands for two years while Miss Coplon got away with Justice Department secrets.

Meanwhile, the Nationalists are negotiating frantically for a coalition government. Whether the United States will do business with the new government, Acheson said, will depend on the Communists' attitude.

The secretary of state was called before the foreign relations committee to answer a petition signed by 50 senators, demanding aid for the Nationalists. Significantly, the petition was sponsored by Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada, the silver lobbyist, whose plan is to bolster the Nationalist economy—with silver.

Next day the attorney general happened to be up on Capitol Hill calling on the chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Pat McCarran of Nevada.

"Here's a letter that might interest you," remarked Senator McCarran, handing him a typewritten letter on the stationery of Senator Ferguson.

In the letter, Ferguson said exactly what the newspapers quoted him as saying the night before, and which he had denied to Clark. Two years ago, wrote the Michigan senator, he had given the information about Judith Coplon to Clark, and now he demanded an investigation. Furthermore, he put all this in black and white.

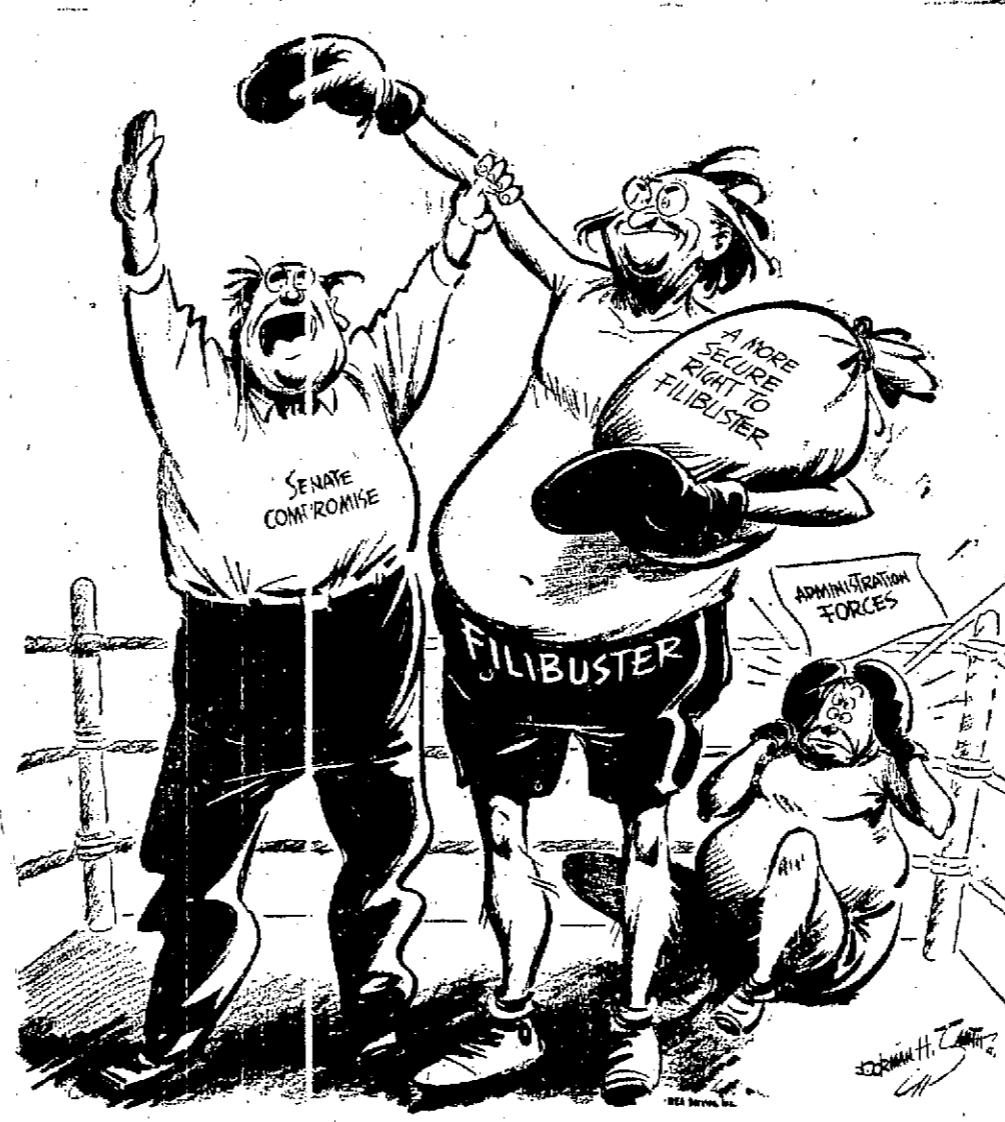

The attorney general read the letter with amusement.

"Well, here's a letter he wrote to me," he remarked, pulling out the handwritten note in which Ferguson said he had been misquoted.

McCarran read the note, then observed:

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Washington—G.O.P. Sen. Homer Ferguson must be getting jittery over his election probe back in Michigan. At any rate something has thrown Homer's balance wheel out of gear.

Silver Lobby Loves China
In a secret report to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last week, Secretary of State Acheson bluntly announced that the Communists are complete masters of China and it would be folly to send more U. S. arms to the defeated Nationalists.

The other day, the Michigan senator, supposed to be a great prosecutor and investigator, let it be known to the press that two years ago he had informed Attorney General Tom Clark about Judith Coplon, the Justice Department analyst recently caught handing government documents to a Russian diplomat in New York. The implication was that Clark had sat on his hands for two years while Miss Coplon got away with Justice Department secrets.

When Attorney General Clark heard the statement of the Ferguson statement, he was, to say the least, nonplussed, and sent word to the senator that he would give him 15 minutes to take back his statement.

Soviet Spokesmen Are Not Altogether Wrong in Charging American Government Thought and Press Control
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 23—Every now and then the Russians accuse America of government control of thought and of the press. Most Americans laugh off the charges. But every now and then there is a modicum of truth in what the Soviet spokesmen say. In all fairness—if conscience is still to be our guide even in international debate—it must be conceded that the press and radio as well as the movies in the United States are subjected to forms of actual and potential censorship. These are by no means limited to such worthy restraints as the prevention of libelous statements or curbs on the use of obscene language.

Thus the Truman administration, under the pretext of a need for increased revenue, proposes an increase in postal rates which it has been brought out in testimony before Congressional committees this month, would put out of business many publications and impose such heavy financial burdens on others as to place the publishing industry at the mercy of the government's licensing power.

The fact that a far less drastic schedule of rates may be finally adopted than the 400 per cent increase now recommended by the Truman administration does not remove from the situation the capacity of the government over-night to ruin the publishing industry. If the object is to intimidate the press, no more clumsy way could have been selected, though from now on the press will have to realize that overnight an unfriendly administration putting pressure on a rubber-stamp Congress, can threaten the entire structure of the periodical-publishing business. It is the reading public which would have to pay the higher costs. No better way to weaken democracy can be devised than for a tyrannical majority to place a higher and heavier tax on the dissemination of knowledge.

Another power which is already subject to abuse is that which permits the government to issue or revoke licenses for radio stations. Here intimidation by government is not a potential theory but a fact.

Finally there is the case of the $74,000,000 a year which a House subcommittee revealed recently was being spent by the government to influence opinion through government bulletins and through propaganda devices operated under government agencies and officials.

If American observers want really to be fair about it they will admit that, while the bulk of the communications of the country—the press and radio—are able to say what they please, they could be subjected to severe economic pressure at any time by an arbitrary and capricious administration and its rubber-stamp majority in Congress. At the same time the administration can perpetuate itself in power by spending public funds for propaganda which, in the influencing of public opinion, is far more skillfully and effectively utilized than propaganda devices to maintain a one-party system in power inside Russia. ## AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Never have our citizens been so bountiful, stalked and beset by professional and amateur hawks and young King Brads, prying into their correspondence, their social life, their politics and laudable prejudices, indeed, their very chambers as they are today. Thanks, originally, I suspect, to the glorifying publicity cranked out on behalf of the F.B.I. about the time of the kidnapping fad. Adolescents of all ages thereby got an inkling or, at most, a smattering of the art of making up fractions into conclusions by the matching of fingerprints, the preservation of hoof-prints by a process called moulage, by shadowing or, in the more blasé jargon, "tailing" and by wire-tapping.

A young and bigrantly unsuitable G.I. who came to my attention some time ago as a source of incidental information, expressed a desire to investigate. Chairman Tydings refused to investigate. Later the Senate Expenditures Committee voted to probe into the scandal, which caused Tydings to change his mind, and he insisted that his committee should have jurisdiction. However, the Expenditures Committee decided to go ahead with the investigation. The seventy-fourth committed suicide.

That is why Secretary of the Army Royall has decided to review the convictions.

When this information was turned over to the Senate Armed Services Committee, however, Chairman Tydings refused to investigate on behalf of the F.B.I. about the time of the kidnapping fad. Adolescents of all ages thereby got an inkling or, at most, a smattering of the art of adding up fractions into conclusions by the matching of fingerprints, the preservation of hoof-prints by a process called moulage, by shadowing or, in the more blasé jargon, "tailing" and by wire-tapping.

The Marshall Plan is in serious danger in the Mediterranean countries because of a devastating drought. The Rome weather station has reported the lowest rainfall in its 176-year history. Industries depending upon hydroelectric power are almost at a standstill, though cool weather luckily has saved the crops from serious damage so far. The prospect is worse in Portugal, where pastures are drying up and threatening the vital cattle industry.

Worse hit of all is Spain—not a Marshall Plan country. Drought-stricken Spaniards are so desperate for water that they are trading wine for water in some places. Already the signs indicate that Spain's olive-oil output, her main source of export, won't even take care of domestic needs this year. (Copyright, 1949, The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Corporation Tax
Blanks Mailed Today

Albany, March 23.—The State Tax Commission today mailed corporation franchise tax blanks for 1948 to 154,000 business corporations taxable under Article 9-A of the tax law.

Under new legislation, the corporation franchise tax rate on returns due on or after May 15, 1949, will be 5½%, Spencer E. Bates, commission president, explained. The tax blanks, printed before the rate change was enacted, carry the old rate of 4½%.

Mailed with each corporation tax blank is an explanatory insert, stressing the rate change and the fact that the new rate of 5½% applies.

The franchise tax returns are due on or before May 15. Half of the tax, but not less than $25, is payable when the return is filed.

other officers of the local government were tapped in the interest of persons professing the pure motives of political opposition, is more dramatic than the routine violations of privacy, but no worse. The mayor, having been a district attorney himself, seems determined to get the law on these gun-shoes and that fact alone will surprise and perhaps hearten slightly those of us who didn't even know there was a law.

There are two notorious organizations with headquarters in New York professing to combat Nazi-Fascism, bigotry and the like which have actually come to be thought-police under private management and for the private purposes of individuals of very questionable motives, they gather "dossiers" or collections of gossip and embarrassing personal information concerning individuals who have the gumption to defy their arbitrary impairments of free speech and opinion and they pipeline dirt and dirty innuendo to outlets which then operate in print and loudly on the air. The blackmailing powers of such methods and the obvious unwillingness of trying to suppress opinion in the United States by threats of disgrace should be obvious. Opinion, pent up, will explode with far more violent consequences than opinion freely gabbled from day to day. The terror continues, however, so I suppose we must have the explosion.

Scandal is a standard by-product of human relations. Even the pure in heart and deed may be blackmailed by scandal through its probable effect on others dear to them, and it is, for reasons of instinctive and professional decency, eschewed by reputable editors.

The methods used by such organizations are European, copied, no doubt, from the activities of the French Secret Police, who seem to have been overruled, the Gestapo and the Russian political detective agencies. That is, they all operate through petty spies, such as false friends, envious neighbors, jealous rivals in business and faithful fiduciaries. The case against Congressman Parnell Thomas, the chairman of the Committee on Un-American Activities, who is charged with practicing the legitimized graft common to most Congressmen and senators, was arranged by a Pinko who managed to violate the confidence of Thomas's office.

Of course, every good reporter is in a sense an "investigator," or, if you insist, a "detective." But the legitimate work of inspecting public records and interviewing public officers requires diligence, intelligence and usually good repute all of which qualities are lacking in the most spectacular imposters. Of course, a reporter will "investigate" to get his facts, but his mission never justifies wire-tapping, corruption of trusted employees or the acceptance of unverified and irrelevant smear material from societies which exist to suppress legitimate political thought and action by moral terrorism.

During the Willkie campaign a woman high in his council of women, New Dealers, the wife of a political invertebrate now prominent in the parasitic "Liberal Party," telephoned me from Dayton, O., that they had just acquired some very hot material on Harold Ickes through a miscreant confidential employee.

"How did you get it?" I asked. "Well frankly," she said, "this fellow swiped it out of his desk." That ended that and I never learned what it was, although the thought occurred to me later that Ickes might have planted it all himself as a deadfall for the reporter who should accept it.

Received interesting material from Mrs. R. L. Glass, who writes: "Enclosed clipping which I found among papers of my late father, retired Conductor John W. Hardman of the Catskill Mountain Division of the New York Central Railroad, who had been 52 years with the railroad company, starting at the age of 15 as a brakeman. Often he told me stories about the old railroad days, horsecars and days of the canal, but have no clipping on it." The following may be of interest to a few old time railroaders who remember the gala event when the first train, June 25, 1883, left Kingston for New York.

This was taken from The Freeman of that date: "The first passenger train of the New York West Shore & Buffalo Railroad (as the West Shore road was officially titled in those days) left this city for New York on schedule time, 7:40 o'clock, Monday morning on that June day. Amidst the firing of cannons, ringing of bells, the inspiring strains of Goeller's band, and the shouts of a multitude of citizens who had gathered to aid in celebrating this event."

"A number of merchants up-town feeling that the event should be properly celebrated took up a subscription, bought powder, hired a cannon and a brass band, and arranged with the sextons of the churches to ring the church bells. The railroad men went to work opening the division in a businesslike way without even the issuing of free tickets.

"Before 7 o'clock that morning quite a large crowd assembled at the 'handsome depot.' A few minutes after 7 the train was run to the depot; over a thousand people enthusiastically examined the handsome coaches, the heavy engine, the nobby suits of the trainmen and the outfit generally.

"E. P. Snyder was the genial ticket agent and the first ticket was purchased by Miss McClechy, well-known Wall street milliner. The train was in charge of Conductor E. A. Whitman and Joseph Johnson, engineer. Work had commenced on this division on October 1, 1881, in the town of Esopus; about the same time ground was broken in the towns of Marlborough and Lloyd. The division ran from Coxsackie to the Orange county line, distance of 37½ miles. First rails were laid July, 1882. The Wilbur bridge over the Rondout creek was the largest of a number of bridges of this railroad. Foundation of the bridge was commenced in 1881, and the first train ran over it on May 8, 1883."

In future article will cover the various considered plans including tunneling under Broadway, and even bringing the railroad across the Rondout creek at Sleighsburgh by building a draw bridge, as described in the clipping.

ALL IN THE FAMILY...
THE EQUITABLE FAMILY.

During 1948 The Equitable family of policyholders was increased by thousands of new members who wanted the security provided by life insurance.

From every state in the Union—from big cities, from country towns, and from farms—these new members who joined The Equitable widened its family circle to a total of 4,150,000 men and women with Ordinary and Group insurance amounting to over $13 billions.

It is the thrifty action and self-reliance of this huge family banded together for mutual protection that makes possible the record of accomplishment which The Equitable brings to you in this annual report.

Of the $307,600,000 disbursed last year to policyholders and beneficiaries, $70,086,000 was paid out as dividends, thus reducing the cost of the insurance coverage; and $108,500,000 was paid in death benefits. Payments to living policyholders were approximately 65 per cent of all disbursements made to The Equitable family during the year—indicating a continuing trend of utilizing life insurance as a means of providing living as well as death benefits.

This year The Equitable celebrates its 90th Anniversary. That milestone is approached in a difficult economic period. We have spoken out against the causes of some current economic conditions and will continue to do so, firm in the belief that the best interests of life insurance policy owners are concurrently the best interests of the people in general.

We shall be glad to send you a copy of the President's Report to the Board of Directors for the year 1948. This report gives in detail The Society's finances, the main features of which are outlined below.

LaFond has charge of the division from Albany south to Highland on the west shore, to Poughkeepsie on the east shore, west to Utica and north to Malone. He testified as to rate increases and decreases over a period from 1936 to 1948 on coaches and first class traffic as granted by the Public Service Commission. Revenue from snow trains was also discussed. He testified to advertising costs for the snow and special train services. One item showed $1,600 spent for the West Shore and Catskill Mountain Division snow trains.

Stang Tells of Advertising

An item for 1947-48 advertising of snow trains was objected to by County Attorney Frederick Stang on the grounds it was general and advertised the Adirondack, Vermont, Berkshires and Catskill Mountain areas in general. This was an item of $3,558.10 and a portion of it was allocated to the "expense" account of the West Shore and Mountain Division. Stang objected to the item unless it was "broken down" to show what portion of the advertising actually was for the West Shore and Mountain Division. It was explained the advertising was general and would not be broken down.

LaFond was asked as to revenue from the one-day excursion snow trains. He said they averaged around $1,100 a day, with dining car. Week-end trains which came up to bring overnight people were not so good. These trains came up and left the people, turned and were brought back to take the travelers home on Sunday evening. They did not have dining car service.

LaFond said he confided with other railroad officials as to train schedules and made suggestions as to operation of trains over his area division.

No Encouragement

Asked if he knew of anything which was done to encourage passenger traffic over the West Shore, he said he knew of none by the railroad. The regular timetables were the only means of advertising train service on the West Shore.

Asked if tavern cars on the West Shore had been planned or were under consideration, LaFond said they had not been considered. He intimated that the tavern cars were "not entirely successful" but were being run on the Central. The observation and tavern car on the "Up-state Special" from New York to Syracuse had provided "better service," he said.

LaFond was questioned regard to certain schedule changes in departure time from Albany over the West Shore as had been suggested by Conductor Thomas Lindin. LaFond said the changes suggested by Lindin would not improve the service, it would aid some but would require other passengers to wait over for a longer period. He said there must be some point where service created a waiting period and it was his opinion that the present Albany connections served the greater number of people best. If the plan suggested by Lindin was adopted it would cause people working in Albany to have longer waiting period in some instances and consequently would be no better than the present service.

He cited instances by time and train numbers, giving arrival and departure of connecting trains from the east, west and north.

LaFond said he had not visited clubs of similar groups to publicize the West Shore Railroad facilities but he had conferred with chamber of commerce. He said he had made two or three attempts to contact the secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce but had failed to get together with him.

Stang inquired whether the Central had taken into consideration the fact that the Hudson River Day Line was not to operate this year up the river to this area and if any plan had been discussed to handle additional business which will thus be diverted to the rail service.

No plan had been discussed, LaFond said, and he added "we consider our service with proposed changes sufficient to do the job."

Inquiries of Service

Stang inquired whether he inferred that there would be sufficient service by rail to carry the additional load from the Day Line traffic "even in the face of persistent curtailment of service on the railroad."

LaFond said the railroad felt it could handle the traffic which is presented with the proposed determination.

At this point Stevens, railroad counsel, injected a bit of humor in the proceedings by the statement that Stang apparently believed that "Cruising Down the River" had its attractions in the tourist trade. He said he believed much of this traffic was "tourist" business which had been attracted by the boat ride and the railroad did not now anticipate that business would be so great as to require additional train service.

LaFond said he had not talked to conductors about train service or schedules but he always welcomed any such information, it was never discouraged.

Various exhibits which had been offered for identification were placed in evidence.

Objects to Exhibit

Objects to exhibit, that of the Greyhound bus line, time table which showed Mount Marion as a bus stop on the line. It was stipulated that Mt. Marion was not on Route 9W where the bus line operates but a couple of miles away "over the hill." The exhibit then went in.

Transportation Engineer H. Bassett was recalled. He said he had once been a conductor. He testified as to the manner of figuring expenses and allocating engine repair between freight and passenger service where the same type of locomotive was used in both service. It was done under the I.C.C. formula which is approved by the Public Service Commission.

In one point of his testimony Bassett said that the so-called "out of pocket" cost of operating a railroad was only about a third of the passenger mile operating cost since many items of cost were not included in the "out of pocket" formula.

Following Bassett's testimony the hearing was adjourned until 1 o'clock. It was announced that there probably would have to be one more hearing after today before the hearing is concluded and the matter finally submitted to the Public Service Commission for determination.

The Park Sheraton Hotel, formerly the Park Central, in New York city, was the headquarters for the recent world and national individual contract bridge tournaments.

The winner of the world individual championship was George Rapee, son of the late Erno Rapee, who was musical director at the Radio City Music Hall in New York for many years. George held the North cards in today's hand, and he smiled when he told me how he made it.

East opened the queen of spades, which Rapee won in dummy, and West unblocked the king. Rapee saw now that he was off a spade, a heart and a diamond. He led the jack of hearts from dummy. West played low and the jack held the trick.

Rapee then led a club to his queen, went back to dummy with a club, and discarded his losing diamond on the ace of clubs. All he lost was a heart and a spade.

At another table declarer went down at four hearts on his hand. When East opened the queen of spades, this declarer decided to play low in dummy. West overtook the queen with the king and immediately led a club. East ruffed it, cashed the ace of diamonds, and four-odd was down one.

If picked up, horned toads may puff themselves out, or deflate themselves.

FROM CITATION AWARDED BY U.S. ARMY

This beautiful memorial, executed locally by Byrne Brothers, Broadway, will mark the grave in Wiltwyck Cemetery of Staff Sergeant Robert H. Dietz, of the Seventh Armored Division, Army of the United States. Staff Sergeant Dietz, "One-Man Army of Kirchhain," was awarded posthumously the Congressional Medal of Honor, this country's highest honor, as the result of his heroic exploits against the Germans in World War 2. On the face of the memorial is a quotation from President Harry S. Truman's letter which carried Staff Sergeant Dietz's citation. It may be seen at the Lions Clubs "Kingston Area on Parade" exposition at the New York State Armory through Saturday.

Truman Signature On Memorial for Local War Hero

What Congress Is Doing Today

(By The Associated Press)

Senate

The signature of President Harry S. Truman will be preserved for ages on the granite monument to be placed on the grave of Kingston's Congressional Medal of Honor winner, Sgt. Robert H. Dietz, in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

In compliance with the wishes of his father, Herman O. Dietz, a veteran of World War 1, Byrne Brothers, monumental dealers of 635 Broadway, communicated with the President for permission to reproduce his signature in stone.

A letter from the White House conveyed permission for the reproduction and it was placed on the monument below an appropriate excerpt from the official citation describing his heroism.

The memorial stone of select Barre Granite from Vermont was designed by Robert Winchell of the Byrne staff, and craftsmen who prepared it were Jack Bartlett, a carver for 48 years, Raymond Snyder and Pat Stephano. The Winchell design embodies Sgt. Dietz's complete military designation and that of his organization, according to James P. Byrne, and is reminiscent in style of a Colonial headstone used extensively in the historic Hudson valley.

The inscription is framed with a band of laurel the motif of which has been used for centuries in connection with commemoration of warriors.

Centered and supported by the same frame of laurel carving is a reproduction of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Capitol Observers Expect Veto of T-H Law Substitute

Washington, March 23 (AP)—There's some private betting going on at the capitol that President Truman will veto the "administration substitute" for the Taft-Hartley Act when it finally comes from Congress.

The bets are being offered by cocky Republicans who say that if the brevets continue to come their way the Truman Democrats won't recognize their own baby when a G.O.P.-southern Democrat coalition gets through with it.

John L. Lewis helped opponents of the Taft-Hartley repealer when he called his miners out of the pits.

The 10-to-1 vote of the Senate Interior Committee approving the long-delayed nomination of James Boyd as director of the Bureau of Mines is a sample of how Congress reacts to Lewis' demands.

Lewis opposes Boyd.

The administration's course in the Senate filibuster fight helped firm southern Democrats in their opposition to many provisions of the Taft-Hartley repealer.

If the President gets a bill that has most of the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act under another name, his friends think he might veto it and demand that Congress start all over again.

On Mr. Truman might find opportunity to say that what he has called the "abuses" of the present law had been corrected enough so that he could accept the new bill reluctantly.

Any veto certainly would be sustained by Congress, for that would leave the Taft-Hartley Act intact, a result its supporters would welcome.

Bricker Might Be One

The way it looks now, Senator John W. Bricker might be Ohio Republicans' favorite son for the 1952 presidential nomination.

Senator Robert A. Taft, up for re-election as senator in 1950, keeps telling folks privately he doesn't want to run for president again. Some G.O.P. senators think he will plug airpower called on the grumblers.

Puzzled by Dewey

The moves of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's presidential campaign backers continue to puzzle many Washington politicians.

It is widely felt here that Dewey is keeping quiet about his plans because he doesn't want to lose control over the New York State Legislature by announcing that he is going to bow out of politics.

But some Republicans confessed they didn't know exactly how to take what Herbert Brownell, Jr., Dewey's presidential campaign manager, told a recent meeting of G.O.P. state chairmen at Chicago.

He said that while the Republicans lost the last election "we'll win the next one."

Some of his party members are wondering about the "we."

Inflation Hits Elkton

Annapolis, Md., March 23 (AP)—Inflation is coming to Elkton, Maryland's town of "easy marriages." The Maryland Senate last night sent to the governor for signing a bill doubling the marriage license rate in Elkton from $2 to $4. The town close to the borders of Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey is widely known in the east as an elopers' center.

Hopped Up

Stilt-walking Bert Wood, 69, ties hop lines while his assistant, May Simmonds, 54, anchors the strings at the bottom of the poles in a Kent hop-yard. This picturesque method of growing the beer-making plant is rapidly disappearing in England because modern machines increase output.

80th Anniversary Of Welch Grape Juice

Eighty years ago Dr. Thomas Welch built the first plant for the then new Welch Grape Juice Company in Westfield, New York along the southern shores of Lake Erie. Dr. Welch, some years previously, had become the first man to bottle an unfermented grape drink made from pure Concord grapes. He developed this grape juice for communion services for his church in Vineland, New Jersey and it was here that his friends prevailed upon him to bottle the juice for home use.

From a small beginning in 1869, The Welch Grape Juice Company has grown until today it owns eight plants and sells over 30 different products. To celebrate their 80th anniversary, Welch's has plans for a gala fiesta in Westfield this fall.

Hospital Libraries

VA hospital libraries containing nearly 1,000,000 books, bound magazines and microfilms of books and magazines, are being used on the average about seven times a month per patient.

The meeting will be designated as "Farmers' Day" in celebration of National Farm and Home Week. Each member of Kiwanis has been asked by club officers to bring an area farmer to the meeting as a guest.

George Silkworth, chairman of the Kiwanis 4-H Club Chicken project, will submit the final report on that project, which calls for the purchasing of lots of 25 chicks each for 4-H Club boys and girls to raise. Each sponsoring Kiwanian will receive two roasting chickens from the boy or girl in the fall in return for the 25 chicks. To date 53 or 54 Kiwanians have signed up for the project, and a few more are expected before the final report Thursday, Silkworth said.

Brilliant new DE SOTO
gets tremendous welcome from public!

Come in and see "The Car Designed With YOU in Mind"

I'm BRAND-NEW... so new that there aren't many on the streets yet. It's already a tremendous success. And it's easy enough to see why.

Everybody wants a smart, good-looking modern car. But most of us don't want to pay a penalty for being modern. We want more room... more comfort... more visibility... not less.

That's where De Soto scores. It's got those long, low lines. But you don't have to wriggle into it. It has big wide doors. Plenty of headroom, too. The roof won't scrape your hat, no matter where you sit. It's roomier than ever.

It's no use having bigger windows and windshields unless you can see out of them. In the new De Soto you can... because you're sitting on chair-high seats. Even a short person can see over the steering wheel. Even a six-footer won't hit his knees on it.

You don't have to enlarge your garage to hold the new De Soto. You can still change a tire yourself. And a dent in the fender doesn't mean an expensive body repair job. Come in and see this wonderful car that lets you drive without shifting. Compare it with any other at any price. Then decide.

Tune in "HIT THE JACKPOT" every Tuesday night, all CBS stations

Kerhonkson Folk Discuss Problems Of Civic Interest

Fifty Kerhonkson business and professional men and women met Tuesday evening at the New Venice Hotel to discuss civic matters and make plans for closer cooperation among the business interests of the village. At the close of the discussion a temporary organization was formed with A. J. Anderson, president of the Board of Education and president of the Kerhonkson bank, temporary chairman, and Mrs. Emily C. Brunner, electrical appliance store and gift shop proprietor as temporary secretary.

The group will again be called together for an evening meeting on April 5, at which a permanent Kerhonkson's Business Men's Organization will be discussed. Plans for the next meeting was left to a committee of five named by Chairman Anderson.

Named to the committee by Anderson were Benjamin Sikorski, Edward Decker, Peter LeBeau, Donald Doane and Sidney Rotherberg. Time and place of the meeting will be announced by this committee.

Tuesday's meeting was called by Joseph Changer, proprietor of the New Venice Hotel, who was host of the evening. After serving his guests with a steak dinner. Changer who formerly resided at Tuxedo, N. J., explained the meeting as one called on his own initiative to discuss civic problems and to seek closer cooperation among the people of the village in an effort to make the village a better place to live and do business.

Kerhonkson is now looking for-

Changer said the village had good stores, ample business facilities and urged that the people of the town give their support to the merchants and all take a hand at making the village a more prosperous community. He referred to the Veterans of Foreign Wars ball which will be held on May 25 and will be one of the biggest events ever to be held in the village. Streets and stores will be decorated for a week there will be Broadway entertainment at the ball and he urged that this type of cooperation continue in the village.

Next year the village of Kerhonkson will observe its 50th anniversary.

Among the suggestions offered was the erection of two large electrically-lighted signs on Route 209 directing traffic to the village business district, signs on the Minnewaska Trail and a community hall project. It was suggested the community hall might be realized through an addition to the present fire house. Such a hall could house a community theatre, a basketball court, roller skating facilities and also provide rooms for use of Scouts and other community groups.

Kerhonkson is now looking forward to the time some four years hence when the New York city water works project will have been completed. Mr. Changer stated that then many would be thrown out of employment on that job and there would be need for new industry to keep people at work.

A. J. Anderson spoke to the gathering of the school proposal now before the Board of Regents. This is a request for permission to bond the present Union Free School District to the amount of $200,000 to be used for building addition to the present school.

The voters have endorsed the plan by an almost unanimous vote. The Board of Regents is pondering the plan and will meet this coming Friday to take some action on the request. This bond issue is the largest ever sought by a district with the assessed valuation of the Kerhonkson district, or about 57 per cent. While the amount is large, from the interest expressed last night in the school, it is apparent that people of the district are heartily in favor of the permission from the Board of Regents which would allow them to build the required addition. In some class rooms in the Kerhonkson school there are 48 pupils under one teacher, it was stated.

Anderson urged every taxpayer of the area to send a letter immediately to the Board of Regents at Albany, urging favorable action on the bond issue plan. At present Kerhonkson serves 15 outlying school districts in addition to the students from the village.

The school issue was clearly stated by Anderson, who pointed out the need of additional room and referred to the long battle which has been waged to get permission to have the bonds issued so that the school improvement program may be carried out.

Dr. Sol. Shapiro, Kerhonkson dentist, and president of the Lions Club of Kerhonkson urged action on the school program and suggested every citizen get behind the move to urge the Board of Regents to approve the proposal.

It was Dr. Shapiro who suggested the formation of a merchants organization or Chamber of Commerce so that a central group with civic interests could begin work.

Howard Terwilliger moved for the organization of a Business Men's Organization of Kerhonkson and that motion prevailed. Anderson was then elected temporary chairman with Mrs. Brunner as temporary secretary. At the meeting on April 5, a proposal will be made to form permanent organization.

In the meeting last evening both the Lions Club and the Veterans of Foreign Wars cooperated to bring the matter to a definite point for the betterment of the village.

Historic Gifts

Myron J. Michael School is sharing in the treasure sent from France on the Gratitude Train.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk has presented to Principal Clifford Rail some of the gifts that are on display now in the school library and will become part of its permanent collection.

Gifts to the school include an album made by Louis Biette of Bois-Colombes (Seine) containing many beautiful postcards showing the buildings, cities and scenes of France.

Another is a book "La Vie Arduente de Bonaparte," which is an outline in French of the outstanding events in Napoleon's life.

There is also a booklet designed as one prepared to give the Allies essential information about the country they liberated. It has a good account of the history, geography, economic and social life of the French people.

The gifts are regarded as invaluable not only for their reference purposes but also because they represent the regard and gratitude of the French people for America and the friendship existing between the two nations.

Strips on Democracy

A series of film strips entitled "Our American Heritage" has been presented to the school by Kingston Lodge, 550, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, which depict the march of democracy.

The Elks' film strips have been placed in the M.J.M. Library for use by all classes in the school.

3. A German People's Congress to be held soon in the Soviet occupation zone of Germany.
4. A hemisphere Congress of Intellectuals in Defense of Peace under sponsorship of Latin American Communists.

Officials say that this is the line set for the peace movement: Rallies of the intellectuals and the masses in support of Russia and its asserted peace policy will defeat the desire of the imperialist instigators of a new war—signers of the Atlantic Pact.

Seven-Man Delegation

Moscow's interest in the New York meeting was evidenced by the composition of its seven-man delegation, which includes Dmitri Shostakovich, internationally known composer. The chairman is Alexander Fadeyev, novelist and chairman of the Soviet Writers' Union, who made the keynote address at the Wroclaw meeting. Records received by the State Department show that in it he charged British as well as American leaders with following Nazi policies.

In New York, the National Council said eleven delegates from western Europe and South America had been barred "at the initiative" of U. S. consular officials abroad.

Shapley, in appealing to Acheson to reverse the decision, telegraphed:

"We cannot believe that you would allow an important conference dedicated to the maintenance of peace to be harmed by the arbitrary action of our consular officials."

Meanwhile, novelist Thomas Mann assailed critics of the conference as spreaders of "hatred and war psychosis."

In a telegram to Shapley from Los Angeles, Mann said,

"It is generally considered in poor taste to insult an invited guest by announcing in advance that whatever he is going to say is bound to be dishonest and detrimental to the host's best interest."

A group newly organized to oppose the conference, the Americans for Intellectual Freedom, said it has received a cable from British poet T. S. Eliot saying the "peace conference" is "an attempt to demoralize intellectual and moral integrity everywhere."

The A.I.F. which plans to hold a counter-rally here Saturday, yesterday challenged Shapley to make public immediately a list of financial contributors to the "Peace conference."

Later a spokesman for the arts, sciences and professional group said the conference "will pay its own expenses, we hope."

"We have a registration of 3,000, at $3 a person," he said. "There will be a collection at the conference dinner and another collection at the big public rally at Madison Square Garden . . . The governments of the east European countries are paying all travel expenses of their delegates and the delegations of the western countries believe that the State Department lets them will pay their own way."

The A.I.F. also challenged the conference to demonstrate its belief in "freedom and democracy" by adopting a set of principles, including:

Condemnation of regimented science; condemnation of suppression of free speech; condemnation of imprisonment and execution of scientists; proposals for a worldwide inquiry into punitive measures taken against scientists and artists, and commendation of the U. S. for its efforts to establish cultural relations with Russia.

Maverick Theatre To Open June 22

Woodstock, March 23—Several new features will be added to those inaugurated last summer at the Maverick Theatre when it opens June 22 for a period of 11 weeks. Tom Reddy, manager, and Roy Graves, scenic designer, have already arrived and are busily engaged in preparing for the summer season.

The resident company at the Maverick this year is expected to be somewhat larger than last season. Cathy Gifford and Bob Guest will return, as will understand will June Glover and other members of the 1948 company. Guest, the versatile young actor, writer and director, will write at least two of the vehicles to be presented during the summer months. Several of his one-act plays were sold for radio production during the winter season, while he was active in the Tributary Theatre, Boston, a local little theatre for experimental work.

Manager Reddy states that while "the accent will be on comedies this year; all of our presentations will be what we consider suitable ones for summer theatre." One or more musical comedies will be given "because we found the public liked them last year." The plays will run Wednesdays through Sundays.

Burlin Is Praised For Gotham Show

Woodstock, March 23—"Heads or Tails" is the painting selected generally by the New York critics as the outstanding work in local artist Paul Burlin's one-man show at the Downtown Gallery, New York city.

Burlin, instructor at Art Students League, Woodstock, last season is described by Carlyle Burrows writing in the New York Herald Tribune as "veteran New York abstractionist" and further in his review of the 11 paintings in the exhibition, "while themes attached to his paintings have a considerable significance, being of such topics as 'the returning hero, the inner frustrations of modern man, and the philosophy of love,' form in painting rather than content appears to interest Burlin most strongly."

"These paintings... which show progress in a deepened complexity of arrangement, involve a reshuffling of the process of decorative abstraction (typical of the 1930s) and an intensification of form by means of powerful color the water district, indicate excellent possibility of this work getting underway by summer.

Keis has been most persistent in his efforts during the many months since the opening of formal bids for this project last fall when the total cost of installing the water system was found to be approximately $500,000. This figure being more than double the amount of the appropriation to be made available for this work made it necessary to refuse the bids submitted at that time.

"One thing is certain about the new painting," says Howard De Vree in his New York Times review, "that it is better humored, less bitter and more free than much of his earlier work. Too often his earlier satires fairly appeared to snarl in paint, but these newer semi-abstractions are brighter patterns in which whatever malice there is, is more amused than biting... all the new commentaries are rich in pigment and essentially decorative."

Canvases included in Burlin's exhibition: "The Pasta and the Cat," "Homunculus," "Dawn Rider," "The Testimonial Progress of Julius," and "Impatience Among the Inanimate."

24 Works of Bouche Appear in Exhibit

Woodstock, March 23.—The works of prominent artist, Louis Bouche, former resident and frequent visitor in Woodstock, is exhibited at the Kraushaar Gallery and includes 24 works, one of which "Myron Watkins' Post Office" was reproduced in the art section of last Sunday's Herald Tribune.

"Bouche's charm... and many of these quite literary pictures are charming... rests in paintings like "The Myron Watkins, Postmaster" with its holiday figures in casual moods, and the "New Lebanon Station" in their freshness of style and color. And in the latter, contrasts of modern life and stodgy architecture show the interest in environment which Bouche enjoys," writes Carlyle Burrows.

Crafts Cooperative Plans New Opening in May

Woodstock, March 23—Crafts Cooperative have leased the studio building in back of the Rudolph Galleries and plan to open in their new location about the middle of May. At a recent meeting of the organization members of the board of directors stated that "all craftsmen in Ulster county are invited to participate" and requested that those interested write to the organization for further particulars.

New directors elected to serve on the board are Carl Walters, Woodstock; Henry Paige, Kingston, and Victor Bitterman, Shokan. Other directors are Alice Fischer, Edith Cook, Mary Smith, Dora Felton, and Cole MacReady.

New Print Shop Will Soon Open in Village

Woodstock, March 23—The Woodstock Shop of prints and reproductions will soon be opened in the small building adjoining The Nook. Ethel Adams and Jessie Cramer will manage, the shop which is to be financed by William Moyer, who owns the building.

This new enterprise will serve as another outlet for the work of Woodstock artists and others in the county specializing in prints and reproductions. The works of the old masters, contemporaries and moderns will be found in the shop. Framing and matting by local people as well as titles and blueprints will be represented. The ladies also plan to have postcard reproductions as well as the larger prints.

Although there are many galleries and shops in the community, so far as we know this will be the first to specialize in prints and reproductions.

Square Club Plans Various Events

Woodstock, March 23—The Woodstock Masonic Square Club is becoming one of the fastest growing organizations in the community according to Leon Carey, president, who states that at practically every monthly meeting numerous applications are received for membership from persons in Woodstock, Saugerties, Kingston and other nearby communities.

At its meeting last Thursday night, a long discussion was held about the annual camp project and it was decided that as in past years, the club would sponsor the Cub Scouts' summer camping at Camp Segowea in Massachusetts and tentative plans made to consider enlarging on this to include possibly Boy and Girl Scouts.

Richard Thomas, camp director, will talk to the members regarding camp life at the April meeting. Warren Hulky has been named chairman of the camp committee and will report further on this work at the next meeting.

William Kipplin, chairman of the supper committee, announced that final arrangements had been made for a buffet supper to be held in Deanie's Gallery Room, Friday, April 1, at 7:30 p. m.

Also, it was decided that a membership book would be compiled to include a biographical sketch of each and every member of the club. Eventually, a copy of this book will be available for each member. Membership at present totals more than 150.

County Attorney Frederick Stang has been invited as the guest speaker for the next meeting in the club rooms, Thursday evening, April 21.

Health for All

KEEPING YOUNG

We have all heard a person described as "70 years young;" or a man of "80 summers." The implication is obvious. Despite the accumulating years, certain individuals cannot be called "old" because they still have the vigor and vitality, physical energy and strength associated with youth.

In 1900, a man was lucky if he lived to be 50. Today, thanks largely to advances in medical science, most of us have a reasonable hope of living longer than our grandparents did. We want those added years to be useful and enjoyable.

Today, a person between 40 and 60 years is still considered young and can normally expect to live two or more decades longer if he does not abuse his health.

The health rules that held good in the age of 40 are not radically different in later life, but the emphasis changes, just as the body's reserves and needs change. There are certain general rules of health that people should be taught to follow as they grow older. These include:

1. Check Up. Periodic physical examinations are important at all ages and should never be neglected after the prime of life is reached. Through these regular check ups, the doctor may be able to detect early signs of approaching illness and advise accordingly.

2. Keeping Fit. Most people who have been physically active while young can continue to be active in middle age if they made a few common-sense adjustments. A certain amount of exercise is still advisable to keep physically fit, and there is no reason why the middle-aged person should not participate in sports if he has always done so. It may be necessary, however, for him to modify his activities and not to engage in sports which are too strenuous.

3. Diet. We may not need as great a quantity of food with advancing years as when we're young, but the quality of the diet must be maintained. The body will always need the proteins, minerals, and vitamins supplied by milk, eggs, lean meats, poultry, fish, cheese, fruits and vegetables. Overweight may be dangerous in middle and old age, and the person who finds he is putting on too much weight with the years should consult his doctor.

The person who keeps in good physical condition all his life is not only apt to live long but to get pleasure out of life regardless of how many years "young" he is.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, 74 John street, Kingston, N. Y.

It's a good idea to keep a separate board for slicing and chopping onions so that the onion flavor does not affect other foods.

Studies of the Redemptorist Fathers of the Baltimore Province. In 1932 he was ordained, and during that summer and the following year he assisted in many parishes of both Ulster and Dutchess counties.

Jungle Missionary

His first assignment was as a missionary for three years in the Brazilian jungles. Later he served in Buffalo and in Ephrata, Pa. When war broke out he became a chaplain in the armed forces. In the army he was often referred to as the "Holy Hurricane" and the "Brooklyn Bombshell" because of his tireless enthusiastic devotion in the service of God, and his zeal for the well-being of all his men.

Men of all faiths shared his kindness and good humor.

Countless stories are told of his work as a chaplain in the army. How he once went through the barracks in a southern camp and tore down all the pin-up pictures on the walls, substituting a picture of the Mother of God. How in the Pacific Islands soldiers traveled as many as 50 miles to hear him preach, and then make their peace with God. But the greatest story of all was how he ran out to the aid of wounded men during the initial invasion of Okinawa, and while ministering to them was killed by shrapnel from an exploding shell.

Awarded Silver Star

Some months before his death he was tendered a letter of "commendation for Outstanding Services" by Major General F. Gilbreath of the South Pacific Base Command. After his death he was awarded the Silver Star for outstanding service beyond the call of duty.

The life story of Father Lynch has been dramatized on a number of occasions over various radio stations. The Ford Hour is planning a national broadcast entitled "Hurricane Padre" in the near future. Various magazines have devoted space to his remarkable career, among them Perpetual Help, the Redemptorist monthly, which devoted the major part of the June 1947 issue to the hero-chaplain. Metro Goldwyn Mayer of Hollywood has expressed its intentions of making a motion picture about Father Lynch.

Father Lynch himself, however, probably would appreciate the fact that it was possible to bring back his body from Okinawa to make its final resting place among his Redemptorist friends and confreres at Esopus. There he will be assured of daily remembrance in the prayers of the young Redemptorist students and their professors at Mt. St. Alphonsus:

Town of Esopus Post, 1298, American Legion under Commander John Henry will supply color guards, firing squad and detail from the Post.

Vehicle condition is said by some authorities to be directly or indirectly responsible for about 15 per cent of all accidents.

Blonde Bride . . .

Tenn., but now lives in Los Angeles. At present she resides in a Washington hotel.

In her suit she said that even before the marriage in April, 1948, Mrs. Rogers influenced her life. She said her husband twice postponed the wedding in order to get Mrs. Rogers' consent to it.

Mrs. Rogers attended the marriage in New York, and says she "gave them many presents."

Two days after the ceremony on April 24, 1948, Mrs. Latta-Lawrence's suit says, her husband told her that she must not live with him in Washington.

She said he explained that it would "ruin his prospects for advancement in the navy and his expectations for financial approval."

Mrs. Latta-Lawrence said her husband told her the marriage was "a cause of great misery and suffering" to Mrs. Rogers. And she quoted him as saying he had received and expected to receive more "substantial benefits, both in the advancement of his career and in meeting his financial needs" from the congresswoman.

Their honeymoon in Bermuda, the complaint continued, was marred by comments she would not fit into the Washington social scene, and that the captain's career would be damaged because of Mrs. Rogers' "distress."

After they arrived at the Shoreham Hotel here on May 7, 1948, the suit contends, Capt. Latta-

Lawrence forced his wife to live apart from him.

The climax came on August 6, 1948, the complaint said, when her husband said he was going on maneuvers and permitted her to visit her home in Los Angeles.

After waiting for a week without a letter from him, she said she checked the Navy Department and learned her husband was in Saco, Me. Mrs. Latta-Lawrence said she sent a wire to Mrs. Rogers in Saco, asking her to talk to her husband and have him telephone her.

He telephoned, she said, and told her "never to return to him in Washington" and said he was "altogether through" with her.

She said she has not seen him since, although she returned to Washington late in September, 1948. She says she has been mentally and physically ill since September 1, 1948.

Mrs. Rogers, who always wears a purple orchid when on the House floor, has been a member of Congress since 1925, when she was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of her husband, Rep. John Jacob Rogers.

The pink-cheeked, white-haired, native of Lowell, Mass., looks considerably younger than her years. The congressional directory says she was born in Saco, Maine, in 1881.

Sinfonietta Offers Different Concert

In bringing the St. Louis Sinfonietta to Kingston the Community Concert Association gave the audience a different-type of musical program, not chamber music and not symphony. Yet the 20 musicians gave a most satisfying program of instrumental music.

As a matter of fact many of the compositions achieved new personalities in refinement of tone and interpretation by the small ensemble. All of the major instruments of the symphony orchestra were incorporated and naturally each was more exposed than in the full orchestra. For this reason each musician necessarily was a soloist in his own right.

Paul Schreiber, its founder and conductor, directed with meticulous care and delicacy. He conducted the entire concert without score and elicited just the proper amount of tonal qualities for balance between the wind, percussion and string sections. There were many skillfully turned phrases and general excellence in musicianship throughout the range of the concert selection.

Victor Salvi was the harp soloist in the orchestra's rendition of Ravel's Introduction and Allegro. Later in response to the applause he played as solos First Harp Arabesque by Debussy and Mother Macbeth.

The ensemble wisely chose Schubert's Fifth Symphony in B flat which was originally written for a group with small instrumentation. The delicate melodies and phrases became vital points of tonal beauty when played by the sinfonietta. This was also true in the popular Overture to The Marriage of Figaro by Mozart.

The second portion of the program following the harp numbers was entirely different. The Latin American rhythms of the two Benjamin compositions, From San Domingo and Jamaican Rumba were most interesting.

In a complete change from the usual program, the Sinfonietta played a collection of Jerome Kern melodies for its final group. It certainly was a pleasure to hear these tunes played with string instrumentation so often lacking in today's modern dance orchestras. Since Kern songs have become an integral part of America's music literature, the inclusion of the medley made a fine concluding group. However, it would have been more appropriate to the general trend of a concert program to delete some of the Kern numbers. The group seemed a bit too long in proportion to the other selections. Included were 12 song hits from Kern's musical shows.

For encores the Sinfonietta played Schubert's Ave Maria in which the cellist took the solo part; a traditional Rumanian dance Hora Staccato, arranged by Dinicu and Helfetz; and two novelty numbers, The Fippo and The Mosquito by Paul White.

The instrumentation used included four first violins, three second violins, two violas, cello, string bass, flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon, trombone, French horn, trumpet, timpani and harp.

Spring Fashions Are Seen at St. Peter's Guild Style Show

More than 300 saw the spring fashion show presented by Botany at St. Peter's School Hall Tuesday night under the auspices of the school's Mothers' Guild. Altogether 45 garments and 20 hats were modeled to show the trend for styles this spring.

Featured throughout the show was the new silver skirt, a contrast to the billowy fashions of last year. The skirts still remain long. Jackets were fashioned with much detail, peploons and buttons figuring in the design. One dusty rose suit jacket was made in a cape effect at the back but buttoned and belted in the front. This was lined with printed material.

The new sand beige color was shown as were some of the pastel shades and the traditional navy. Suits ranged in price from $55 to $90, hats from $50 to $65. However one exceptionally striking suit was white wool gabardine at $110. This was worn with a huge green straw hat trimmed with a silk scarf bow at the back priced at $50, and a matching green straw bag priced at $40.

A black and white check dress featured the slim skirt enhanced

K.W.B.A. Will Sponsor Fashion Show and Entertainment March 28

Proceeds Will Go To Expense Fund For '50 Turney

The Kingston Woman's Bowling Association will sponsor a fashion show and a variety review of professional Broadway talent on Monday, March 28, at the municipal auditorium, Mrs. Rena Frederick announced today.

The proceeds of the program will be applied to the "Kingston in 1950" fund of the K.W.B.A. The local women's bowling group is making a spirited bid to land the New York State Women's bowling championships for the Bowlerium in the spring of 1950.

Ticket Sale

Admissions will be passed only. There will be no sale of tickets at the door. K.W.B.A. officials and virtually every member of the association have been distributing passes for the past several weeks.

The fashion show, highlighted by the appearance of two Powers models, will feature the latest in spring and summer wear for the matron, junior miss, teen age and babies.

Local Models

Local models will display a complete wardrobe for the spring-summer season, starting with coats, suits et cetera down to beach and idle hour wear.

Entertainment was secured through the National Radio and Theatrical Bureau of New York. The professionals will be augmented by the best available local talent.

Mrs. Frederick reported that the K.W.B.A. committee on the fashion revue has received the full cooperation of local merchants and have spared no efforts to provide an interesting and enlightening program for the men and women bowlers of Kingston and their friends.

The identity of the Powers models will be announced later.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

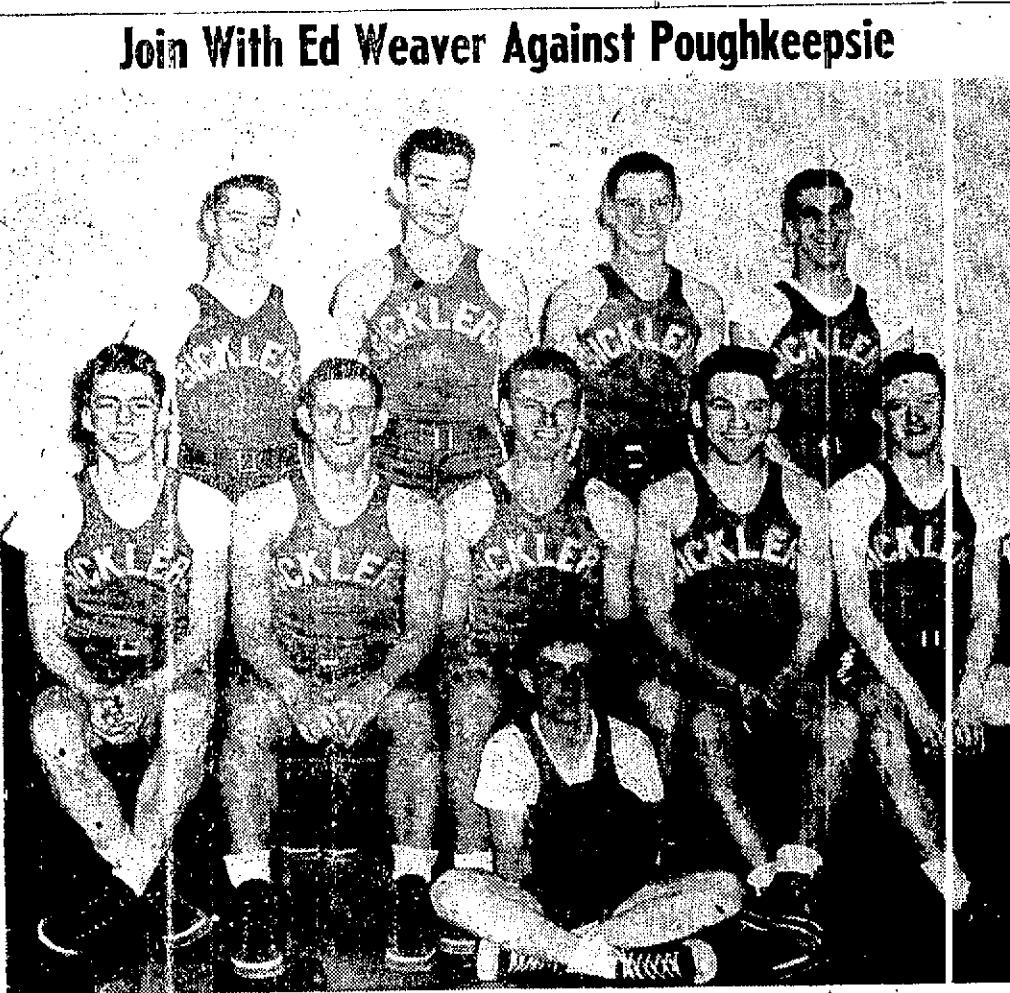

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 23 (AP)—The battle for the first base job on the New York Yankees has narrowed down to Jack Phillips and Joe Collins. Manager Casey Stengel says Dick Kryhoski, up from Kansas City, is "too green to play first base in the majors. I haven't played him because I don't want to have him disappointed when he is sent down." Babe Young, signed as a free agent, has been unimpressive and appears on the way out.

Burbank, Calif., March 23 (AP)—Losers in three straight exhibition games, all by one run, the world champion Cleveland Indians will try to change their luck today against the St. Louis Browns. Sam Zoldak, Lynn Lindes, and Bill Hafey are scheduled to pitch for the Tribe. The Indians lost to Pittsburgh 2 to 1 yesterday as center fielder Wally Westlake smashed a home run to break a 1 to 1 tie.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 23 (AP)—Carl Furillo, Brooklyn Dodger outfielder who "can't hit righthanded pitching," is soaking the orthodox hurlers like he owns them.

Furillo went four for four in an intra-squad game yesterday. He tagged Carl Erskine and Clarence Podbielan for blows each causing the Dodger bunch to chip in with "Furillo when are you going to hit righthanders?"

San Bernardino, Calif., March 23 (AP)—Lippy Durocher, New York Giants manager, claims rival clubs are offering "tomato

Join With Ed Weaver Against Poughkeepsie

This group of high powered basketeers who bear a strong resemblance to the former Kingston High School varsity met the Poughkeepsie Varsity Five tonight at the municipal auditorium at 8:45. The Bridge City roster includes virtually all of this year's P.H.S. squad which snapped the Kingston 43-game winning streak. Among them will be Ed Donahue, one of the all-time Blue greats; Roy Cordelle, Bill McKeown, Lewis, Claude, Herdon and Suga. The above players, known as the Sickler Juniors, are seated, in usual order. Ronni Schafer, K.H.S.' highest scorer; Mike Rienzo, Keefe Chambers, Mort Gazay and Lafayette Holstein. Standing: George Holstein, Bud Scheffel, Jim Richt and Joe Albany. Principal attraction, of course, will be Big Ed Weaver, ex-K.H.S. immortal who will be at the center slot. A high class prelim is scheduled at 7:30 p. m. (Photo by Belcher.)

"pickers" in exchange for some of his sluggers.

"Nobody is giving up a star pitcher," Durrocher said yesterday. "Pittsburgh for instance, expressed interest in Bobby Thompson. I mentioned Stan Rojek, Kirby Higbe and another pitcher to be named and they threw up their hands. That's the way it goes. They offer you tomato pickers but we have plenty of them ourselves. So far everybody."

Orlando, Fla., March 23 (AP)—Washington's Senators took a three-game winning streak into today's Grapefruit League contest with the New York Yankees.

The hitting of catcher Al Evans was an important factor in yesterday's 8-7 decision over the Minneapolis Millers of the American Association. Evans slammed a 395 foot home run in the third inning and added a pair of singles before retiring in the fifth.

Brockton, Mass. Keglars boast 1948 Records of 1289 and 3342

Bay State Powerhouse Rolls Here Saturday

The Dunnington Drug Team of Brockton, Mass., a 967-average squad that rolled 1289 and 3342 during the 1947-48 bowling season, will meet the Ferraro Sharps in a special exhibition Saturday night at the Bowldrome.

The Brockton keglers have won the Eastern Massachusetts Major championship for four out of the last five years and are moving toward their fifth pennant. They also hold the match game championship of New England.

Brockton is the third in a series of topflight squads to appear in Kingston this winter. The Sharps defeated Marcal Products of East Paterson, N. J., and then lost by two pins to Faber Cement Blocks, 3066-3064.

George Klim, the anchor, is a huge power bowler, who handles the ball like a grapefruit. The Brockton boys say the ball goes to half mast when he misses a spare.

Klim has been individual champion of eastern Massachusetts and high average leader in the Major league for eight of the last 10 years. In 1948 in the state championship he set an all-time record across 12 alleys. His all-time high is 793 which is also a record for Massachusetts.

Al's Bowl-O-Drome of Lodi, N. J., current holders of the nation's highest score of 3495, are scheduled to roll at the Bowldrome on Saturday, April 2.

Hartford, Conn.—Elis Ask, 124, Helsinki, Finland, stopped Joey Longo, 126, Baltimore, 2.

Francis Moynihan, Johnny Quillian, 201 average; Walter Reynolds, George Klim and Tony Cerci.

Two Top Keglars

Cerci, a great stylist, and Klim are the powerhouses of the squad. Cerci teams up with Moynihan in the doubles and on his own has captured every major A.B.C. prize award in the New England area. He has rolled one 300 score and eighteen "100" series with a high of 781 in the past 20 years.

Elect Directors, Amend Retirement

Ernest R. Acker, Harris E. Dexter, Robert B. MacGuinness, John Wilkie, all Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation officers, and Peter Cantline, Newburgh, Edward E. Perkins and William Smith, Poughkeepsie and Robert R. Rodie and Alva S. Staples, Kingston were elected directors of the corporation at its annual stockholders meeting on Tuesday. The stockholders also amended the company's contributory retirement plan to eliminate discrimination affecting a number of employees and officers.

The proposed change in the contributory pension plan was approved by stockholders owning 73.8 percent of the company's shares and was opposed by stockholders owning 2.59 percent of the company's shares. The proposed slate of directors was elected unanimously.

President Acker in explaining the retirement plan pointed out that Central Hudson's plan had been in effect since January 1933, and that under the by-laws in force both the individual employee and the company shared in building the employee's retirement annuity by contributions based on the employee's monthly earnings up to $850. On monthly earnings in excess of this sum the company was not permitted to contribute toward an employee's pension. Acker said that the proposed change in the by-laws would remove this discrimination by permitting both employee and company to contribute to the retirement plan on the basis of the employee's entire salary. However, an upper limit was placed on employee and company contributions so that no employee could receive a pension in excess of $15,000 a year. Acker said that while no official new employee by the company could become eligible for this maximum pension the change in the by-laws would affect, to some extent, the retirement income of 18 employees including officers.

A bill to increase the pay of justices in the district from $18,000 to $23,000 a year is now before Governor Dewey.

Tavern Owner Killed; Man Gives Confession

New York, March 23 (AP) — A tavern owner was shot to death on a street last night, and police reported the surrender of the brother of a tavern keeper slain last summer.

Last night's victim was Serafino Perez, 47, of 1239 Findlay avenue, The Bronx, who was shot at Madison avenue and 106th street.

A short time later, police said, Felix Roman, 26, of 1568 Madison avenue, walked into a police station, announced "I just shot Serafino Perez," and handed over a .38 caliber pistol.

In a signed statement, police said, Roman declared he shot Perez "before he shot me." The revolver was found on the body of the dead man, detectives said.

Roman was charged with homicide.

Detective Charles Dauner said that last summer Pedro Roman, a brother of Felix Roman, was shot to death in east Harlem. Perez was arrested in connection with the shooting of Pedro Roman, but was not indicted for homicide. He was given a suspended sentence for violation of the Sullivan (anti-weapons) law.

Perez, with his wife, Pura, operated a tavern on Madison avenue, and Pedro Roman had owned one a few doors away.

Many at Services
The special series of Lenten services held in the First Church of the Nazarene closed with great success. On the last Sunday evening the Nazarene Church was much too small to hold the interested congregation. It was necessary to secure the use of the First Presbyterian Church on Elmendorf street, through the kindness of the Rev. William McVey. The Rev. R. N. Raycroft was the Lenten speaker and the Flies Sisters Quartette of West Virginia were the musicians and singers. New members are to be added to the church because of this successful meeting.
